

HMH SOCIAL STUDIES

Participate in FREE Social Studies Issue-Based Workshops for Grades 6–12

Middle School: *United States History, World Civilizations, & World Geography

High School: *American History & World History

Houghton Mifflin Harcourt® has developed a series of three issue-based professional learning workshops to explore the critical needs facing social studies educators.

Each 45-minute workshop will provide teachers with insights and strategies for immediate classroom application.

- 1 Blended Learning: How to Flip Your Social Studies Classroom
Discover how to successfully flip your classroom to make the most out of your time with your students.
- 2 Access for All: Differentiation and Reading in Your Social Studies Classroom
Uncover powerful tools that help all students understand primary sources and informational text.
- 3 The Inquiry Arc: Integrating the C3 Framework in Your Social Studies Classroom
Learn how to help students develop active inquiry skills and how to prepare them for college, career, and civic life.

You and your school can experience these professionally developed workshops at no charge. If you like what you see and hear, Houghton Mifflin Harcourt also offers a series of full-day implementation trainings.
